Tobii C8 Speech Generating Device

Communication is key

A variety of communication methods allow Tobii C8 users the ability to achieve their full potential. A user can communicate via text or symbols to generate synthesized or digitized speech for face-to-face interaction or connect through email, text messages or chat.

With the Tobii C8, users also have the freedom and flexibility to write and edit documents, surf the Internet, play music and games, control a TV, DVD and other household appliances (additional equipment required) and even plan and manage their time – making independence easy.

Your choice of software

The Tobii C8 allows users to select and implement the most appropriate software language options and settings for fast and effective communication. At any time a user can decide to alter these choices or upgrade the system or software to accommodate their changing needs and interests.

The perfect choice for anyone in need of a small, lightweight yet powerful communication device - providing control and independence in one.

The Tobii C8 includes Tobii Communicator Standard edition package, which allows for communication via text, or with over 10,000 SymbolStix® symbols. Tobii Communicator Premium, an upgrade, includes email, text messaging, and environmental control.
